

The sentence that stood out

"Status is past tense. Readiness is future tense. Journeys are the path between them."

That's not just a nice sentence.

That's the kind of thing companies put on a wall.

It immediately tells every engineer...

"This is how we think."

I would not change a single word.